Winter 2017 Newsletter!

Well we are finally back to releasing a newsletter update for Edric. He went through a frightful health scare over the last year but I am extremely happy to say that he is back in his sawdust pile getting ready for several upcoming exhibits. As we continue to search for new galleries in 2017 to handle Edric's work we would appreciate any feedback in assisting us to meet that endeavor. What makes his work so unique is that he uses primarily locally harvested wood with the occasional wood that has been garnered by fans of his as well as collectors, such as a private estate or local arborist. He has had wood sent to him from Texas, to Avery Island, Washington, and as far away as Germany. It can be a quite involved process while working on various projects at the same time, I believe it keeps his creative mind taxed, and at times I need to remind him that he is supposed to be retired, someday we'll pack up our Siberian Husky "Kona" and take a day trip.

You can find Edric's work or his participation at the following events and locations over this winter season.
